

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PAPER (E.)—BALANCE SHEET, showing the LEDGER BALANCES on the 31st March 1845, the Date on which the preceding Account of RECEIPT and EXPENDITURE was closed;—also, the Proportion of the AVAILABLE BALANCE remaining on that Day applicable to the still open Account of 1844-45, leaving the UNAPPROPRIATED BALANCE of £. 512,011. 17. 6. on the Grants for 1843-44 and prior Years.

N. B.—To obviate the necessity of introducing into the following Statement the separate results of all the Accounts, the Balances on the Ledger are shown in Classes, except in those instances in which it has been deemed advisable to add special explanations, with the view of illustrating the principle upon which the Account has been prepared, and the final Balance struck. The Account of Receipt and Expenditure is one for the Year, and has been kept open for twelve months after the expiration of the Year to which it refers, that all Payments within that period, relating to the Service of the past Year, might be included in it, and the whole Expenditure on Imprests be finally audited before declaring the unappropriated Balance; the Receipts and Payments comprised in that Account being therefore spread over a period of two complete years, the proof of the correctness of the unappropriated Surplus may be shown either by the Balances which remained on the Books at the Date to which the Account of Receipt and Expenditure extends (viz. 31 March 1844), or by those which remained at the date when it was definitively closed (viz. 31 March 1845). The Balance Sheet of the latter date is given, as it exhibits a more complete statement of the Accounts.

Memorandum.—Although the balance upon this Account appears to be as above stated, yet there is in the Three per cent. Consols, 100,000 l. Stock, invested on account of Army Prize Money, the Interest whereof is included annually in the Parliamentary Estimates, and is applicable to the payment of Prize claims; and when the amount thereof, in addition to other sums received on the same Account during the year, exceeds the claims paid, the balance is taken by the Paymaster-general as an appropriation in his accounts. The difference between the above balance, viz. 4,129 l. 4 s. 4½ d. and the 100,000 l. Stock in the Three per cent. Consols, arises from the investments in that Stock having been made when the Funds were very low, and from the sales thereout, as occasion required, having been from time to time effected when the prices were considerably higher.

Note.—This Return has been prepared in accordance with the Order of the House of Commons, as far as it is practicable, but a Return founded, as it is, on a Classification of Offences, cannot be prepared with strict accuracy, because in the Army the same person is often tried at one and the same time for more than one offence. It is to be observed, that in the year 1833, the award of Corporal Punishment was restricted, by special authority, to certain offences; viz. "Mutiny," "Insubordination," "Violence, or offering violence to Superiors," "Drunkenness on Duty," "Disgraceful Conduct," and "Making away with Necessaries;" consequently, in all other cases which appear in this Return, the offence (as for instance, "Desertion," "Quitting or Sleeping on Post," and "Absence without Leave)," was coupled with "Making away with Necessaries," or some other act to which Corporal Punishment was applicable.

N. B.—The Returns from two Regiments in India, one at Van Diemen's Land, one at the Cape of Good Hope, and one at Ceylon, have not been received.

Adjutant-General's Office, 10 March 1845.

Note.—SHOWING THE SURVEYS IN PROGRESS.

HOME SURVEYS.

Portsmouth.—The Owers Shoals, St. Helen's, Spithead and Portsmouth Harbour, having been completed, this party is now proceeding with the Southampton Water, the Solent and the Needles.

The Downs.—The Survey of the River Thames having been completed, from London Bridge to Ramsgate, this party is now employed in examining the Brake and other Sands in the Downs, which have very considerably changed their positions.

North Sea.—This party is now employed in surveying the Stour, Orwell, Deben, and other navigable Rivers on the East Coast of England, and in proceeding gradually with the Banks which occupy the North Sea, 6,000 square miles of which have been already accurately examined and sounded.

Scotland (North Coast.)—These officers having partly completed the North Coast of Great Britain, are continuing their operations round Cape Wrath.

Orkneys.—This party is still engaged in the difficult and laborious Survey of this boisterous group of Islands.

Scotland (West Coast.)—This party having finished the Survey of the Firth of Clyde, will now undertake the remainder of the Coast to the Mull of Cantire.

Irish Channel.—The northern part of this important Survey has been already executed, and is in the Engraver's hands; the Southern half will now occupy this party.

Ireland (East Coast.)—The Coast from Dublin Bay to Wexford, with the Shoals off Wicklow, having been already surveyed, this party is now at work on the Arklow Shoals and the Shore towards Waterford.

Ireland (West Coast.)—This party, in hired Vessels and Boats, is employed in surveying Galway Bay.

Ireland (South West Coast.)—This party having completed the Survey of the Shannon as far up as Limerick, is now engaged in the examination of Bantry Bay.

Lough Corrib.—This party is employed in the Navigable Lakes of Corrib and Mask, in the County of Galway.

FOREIGN SURVEYS.

Mediterranean.—The opposite Shores of the Archipelago having been nearly completed, these parties are now about the intermediate Islands.

St. Lawrence.—This party having completed the Survey of the River and Gulf of St. Lawrence, from Montreal to the Island of Anticosti, as well as the Strait of Belle Isle, is now employed on the Southern shores of the Gulf, and round Prince Edward's Island.

Gulf of Fundy.—The Survey of places on the shores of this large and dangerous arm of the Sea has been executed, as well as upwards of 100 miles of the River St. John; and this party is now uniting these partial Surveys in a general Chart, as well as endeavouring to determine the set of the prodigious tides there, which rise upwards of 60 feet.

West Indies.—These parties having nearly finished the Mosquito and Honduras Gulfs, as well as the intricate Channels across the Bahama Banks, have now undertaken the Gulf of Campeché, and the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

Falkland Islands.—The Survey of these Islands, which contain some of the finest Harbours in the World, is now nearly completed.

China.—These parties are employed in determining the positions of the various dangers on the Coast of China, and in examining the Approaches to the several Commercial Ports, access to which was conceded by the late Treaty.

Australia.—These parties are engaged in an extensive Survey of the long line of Reefs lying to the eastward of Australia, and intervening between the Pacific Ocean and Torres Strait, which is the only direct communication with India.

Western Coast of America.—These parties will take up the Survey at Guayaquil (to which place it had been extended from Cape Horn, and published in 16 sheets); and they will continue it to the Northward, along the Coasts of Granada, Guatemala, Mexico and California, of which long interval there is but little accurately known.

The whole Charge amounts to the sum of Seven thousand Five hundred and Twenty-eight Pounds.

Admiralty, 21 July 1845.

HADDINGTON. W. GORDON.

Admiralty, 15 July 1845.

THE attention of the Admiralty has not now been called for the first time to the growing inefficiency of the Admirals' List, arising from the advanced age of the officers filling the highest rank in the service. This evil, necessarily increasing from year to year, has created great anxiety; suggestions have been made from time to time with the view of providing an effectual remedy, and have been successively rejected, because on examination it was found that they did not meet the exigency of the case. The object of these proposals has been to bring officers still in possession of health and vigour nearer to the Flag, by providing for the honourable retirement of those at the head of the Captains' List, and thus opening the succession to the highest rank to younger men.

For this purpose proposals have been made at different times for the retirement of 100 and of 150 Captains; but it was found that the number of officers of that rank who had attained an advanced age was so great, that the retirement proposed would have left matters much as they were before; and that the succession to the Flag would have still devolved upon men as old, or nearly so, as those now occupying that rank.

The total number of Captains now on the list is 714; of these 376 are above 55 years of age; among whom 50 are above 70 and 205 above 60; 171 are between 55 and 60, and 138 between 50 and 55; and nine only under the age of 45 are to be found of a seniority higher than 1827.

The retirement of 100 Captains from the top of the list would remove officers averaging 67 years of age, to bring up others averaging 64.

If even 200 were retired, the average age of those advanced to the top of the list would be 60; either of such schemes, therefore, would leave the evil untouched.

This short statement is decisive as to the impolicy of retiring 100 or even 200 officers, with the view of bringing the Flag within the reach of a junior class of men.

Former suggestions, moreover, went merely to the retirement of the number proposed, and to the maintenance of a Retired List of 100 old Captains, to be recruited from the Effective List in death vacancies. They left all the causes in full operation which, by overloading the Captains' List, have created the existing evil.

There is, however, no conceivable method, consistent with the practice of the service, of so disencumbering the list of Captains of the old and more infirm members as to bring efficient men near their Flag, but by resorting to the principle of retirement; and it is necessary to make that retirement so large as to prove really effective, accompanying the project with other provisions calculated to prevent the growth of similar evils hereafter. In the conviction that any scheme of retirement, to be effectual, should be offered to 300 officers, it is now proposed that there should be a Retired List of 300 Captains, of 55 years of age and upwards, with increased half-pay, power being given to the Admiralty to allow infirm officers of 50 to retire, if the number required of the age of 55 should not be found willing to do so, and that the officers so retiring should be placed on a separate list between the Flag Officers' and Captains' Lists.

That this list should be allowed to diminish, by death, to 100, and be hereafter permanently maintained at that number.

That general promotions should no longer be resorted to as the means of recruiting the list of Admirals, but be replaced by a system of continuous promotion, as death vacancies arise on that list; and general promotions be reserved for the celebration of important national events.

That the Flag Officers' List should be limited to 150, and the Captains' List to 400, to be retained at those numbers by promotion to every vacancy. This limitation is intended to be permanently applied to a state of peace, but it is impossible to say what the exigencies of a war might require.

It is not proposed to place the officers wishing to avail themselves of the immediate advantage of this plan on a retired Flag List, but it is intended that those retiring from the 14*s.* 6*d.* list should at once be permitted to assume the title of Rear-Admiral, and that the remainder should be permitted to assume the same title at the period when they would have obtained the Flag by seniority had they continued on the Active List.

It is recommended that the officers retiring should receive 5*s.* 6*d.* a day in addition to their present rates of half-pay, and to those to which they would become subsequently entitled had they remained on the present Active List. Thus, officers retiring from the 10*s.* 6*d.* and 12*s.* 6*d.* lists would receive 16*s.* and 18*s.* respectively, until the period when, had they remained on the Active List, they would have been entitled to the half-pay of 12*s.* 6*d.* and 14*s.* 6*d.*, when their retirement would be increased to 18*s.* and 1*l.*

At present the 100 senior Captains receive 14*s.* 6*d.* a day half-pay, the 150 next in seniority 12*s.* 6*d.*, and the rest of the Captains' List 10*s.* 6*d.*

In consideration of the great change proposed, which produces throughout the whole list a nearer approximation to the Flag, and, by reducing the number of Captains from 714 to 400, shortens the time during which each officer will have to remain on the Captains' List, while at the same time it greatly increases his chances of employment, it is thought that the number of officers to receive the highest rate of half-pay, should be reduced from 100 to 50; and that those to receive 12*s.* 6*d.* should not exceed 100.

To the widows of the retired officers it is proposed to allow pensions of 110*l.* per annum, and to those of the officers entitled to assume the rank of Rear-Admiral the pension of a Rear-Admiral's widow.

Should any great national event render it right to grant the boon of a general promotion, it is proposed that the two limited lists so increased in numbers should be gradually reduced to the numbers already specified, by a recurrence to the principle principle of restricted promotion, instead of filling up every vacancy, and that the same rule should apply to any temporary increase in the number of Captains created by promotion awarded for brilliant or distinguished service.

A considerable additional expense will in the first instance be necessarily incurred by the retirement of the large number of officers proposed, which expense, however, will be in process of annual diminution, as the officers, whose vacancies are not to be filled up, die off the list, whilst savings to a large amount, arising from various causes hereafter specified, will by the operation of the proposed plan gradually accrue.

By a calculation founded on the average tables of mortality, it is assumed that the Retired List of 300 Captains will be reduced to 100 in about 17 years; consequently, the expense of retirement, which in the first year will amount to about 30,000*l.* will diminish annually, till in the 17th year it will be reduced to a little more than 10,000*l.*, which will be the permanent charge required to be maintained. And further, as the 200 officers who will thus be removed from the Retired List, without being replaced, will not contribute to promotion on the Active List by the usual promotion of one officer for every three vacancies, an annually increasing saving will accrue, which in the 16th year will amount to above 5,000*l.* per annum.

A further saving will also result from the reduction of the list of Flag Officers to 150, from the number at which of late years it has been maintained, and to which it would be restored by another Brevet promotion.

In addition to these savings, there are some others which form a considerable item in the calculation of the savings to be effected by the adoption of the foregoing plan; the general result of which will be, after a few years, an excess of saving over the cost, amounting to many thousands per annum.

It is believed that the terms on which this retirement is offered are consistent with that due regard to economy which should animate every public department in the consideration of all questions involving an expenditure of public money, and at the same time sufficiently liberal to induce the officers to whom they are offered to accept them.

Such is the plan of retirement which, after a full consideration of all difficulties, has met the approbation of the Admiralty, and is, by that department, recommended to the favourable consideration of the Government and Parliament.

It is quite impossible to calculate with certainty on its success, founded as it is upon the principle of voluntary retirement, but it promises to be as effective as any plan can be made, from which the principle of compulsory retirement is necessarily excluded.

Its superiority to former proposals consists in the great number it withdraws from the Effective List, and the precautions it recommends, in order to prevent the recurrence of a state of difficulty and stagnation hereafter similar to that which now exists; its ultimate adoption, however, must be dependent on the reception which the officers interested may give to the plan.

It is too obvious to require explanation, that unless the number required (or nearly so) should accept the offer made to them, very little good would be effected, and the country would be put to a heavy charge for increased dead weight, without deriving any corresponding benefit.

It is only necessary to refer to what has been said of the former proposals, and the reason for rejecting them, arising from the state of the Captains' List, to show that by no retirement less extensive than that proposed can we hope to see a class of men advanced to the head of the Captains' List, who from their time of life are likely to be fully qualified for the active duties of service in the highest ranks of the profession.

Unless, therefore, we can remove from the Captains' List the number now proposed by voluntary retirement, it would not be advisable to persevere with the plan; but in that case it will be the duty of the Government to consider what ulterior measures may be necessary in order to provide for an efficient list of Flag Officers.

A Vote in supplement of the present Naval Estimates, amounting to 15,000*l.* the estimated cost of the retirement for the half year commencing the 1st of October, will be necessary to enable the Admiralty to take the first steps towards carrying their arrangement into effect. Should it not succeed, no portion of the money voted will be expended. It is therefore for a conditional Vote only, that the Naval Department will have to ask.

Vote No. 3. This excess is caused by more having been paid for wages to artificers employed under the surveyor of the navy, for rates and taxes, extra allowances to clerks for attendance at night, official repairs, fuel and lighting, and law charges.

Vote No. 4. This excess is merely the difference between an actual expense and an estimated one for postage.

Vote No. 6. The excess on this head arises from the expenses and subsistence of certain shipwright officers employed in preparing designs of ships, and of engineers from Woolwich steam factory inspecting steam machinery.

Vote No. 8. This excess arises from the employment of workmen on piece-work, and the hire of extra workmen to forward the building of steam-vessels.

Vote No. 10. The excess on this vote has arisen from a much larger supply of copper being required, chiefly for the preparation of the advanced ships, from the purchase of iron steam-vessels, from a larger quantity of African timber being required for ships and vessels, and from part of the supply of Italian oak timber having been received at an earlier period than was expected.

Vote No. 11. The excess on this vote (together with 24,134 l. 4 s. 9 d., the amount reserved for future outlay) arises from its having been found necessary to proceed with more despatch (or to insure increased safety) in the execution of the undermentioned works, than was contemplated when the estimates were framed; viz. at Woolwich, the New East Dock, completing Inner Basin, New West Dock, Railroad to Masting Sheers, clearing mud from Basin; and at Malta, the New Dock and Bakery, all of which works were moreover of the highest importance, and delay would have occasioned serious inconvenience and increased expense.

Vote No. 13. This excess is caused by more having been paid than voted for pilotage, and for passages of naval officers to and from their ships on foreign stations.

Note.—The sum of 7,306 l. 10 s. paid since 31st March 1844, for the purchase of land, has been charged against the 10,000 l. voted for that service under No. 13 in this Account, under the authority of the Treasury, and for the reasons assigned in Mr. Trevelyan's letter of the 25th July 1844, an attested copy of which is annexed.

Vote No. 14. This excess is merely the difference between an actual expense and an estimated one, on so large a sum.

Vote No. 19. This excess is owing to the contract for the conveyance of the mails to and from Halifax and Boston and this country being increased from the 10th October 1843.

I do hereby attest that, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, the foregoing Account is correct.

Admiralty, 27 November 1844.

Sir, Treasury Chambers, 16 February 1844.

With reference to your letter of the 9th instant for authority to declare available as Ways and Means "certain unexpended and unappropriated balances, amounting to 29,770 l. 19 s. 9 d.," I am commanded by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to acquaint you for the information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that the sum of 29,770 l. 19 s. 9 d. will be stated as a saving on the Navy Grants for 1842–43, and prior years, in the accounts to be laid before Parliament, and deducted from the amount remaining to be issued on the Navy Grants for the current year.

I am, &c.

The Secretary of the Admiralty. (signed) C. E. Trevelyan.

Sir, Treasury Chambers, 25 July 1844.

Having laid before the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury your letter of the 19th instant, I have it in command to request that you will state to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that under the circumstances stated therein my Lords consider that the sum of 10,000 l. voted on the Estimates for 1843–44, under the Head No. 13, instead of under No. 11, for the Purchase of the Land adjoining Woolwich Dockyard, may be now applied to that purpose as if it had been taken under the head of "New Works," for the furtherance of which it was voted, although the protraction of the legal proceedings attending the purchase rendered it impossible to complete the transaction before the end of the last financial year.

My Lords at the same time desire that a note of the circumstances of the case may be appended to the next Balance-sheet for Naval Services to be presented to Parliament in the ensuing year.

I am, &c.

The Hon. Sidney Herbert, M. P., &c. &c. &c. (signed) C. E. Trevelyan.

LINCOLN.

MEMORANDUM as to the Progress and State of the Museum for the Years 1843–4, and 1844–5.

For the Year 1843–4:—

DURING the year the additions to the various collections in this establishment have been both numerous and valuable, and the same disposition to promote it by presents has been shown, as on previous years, by landed proprietors, mine-owners and agents, manufacturers and men of science.

About 200 of such presents have been received during the year, many of them illustrating subjects of economic importance.

Models of much value have been added to the Mining Model Department, and others are now in progress in the workshop attached to it. It is found that engineers and miners take so much interest in the models constructed at the Museum, that, prior to placing them in the rooms dedicated to them, they are exhibited at meetings of the Institution of Civil Engineers, where engineering discussions are raised upon the subjects which they illustrate; and the thanks of that Society are voted to the Museum for their exhibition.

In the Laboratory, students in Mineral Analysis have increased, and among them are now, a General Officer of the Indian Army, a Colonel in the Guards, a Captain in the Navy, and an Officer of the Bombay Engineers, showing the class of persons desirous of availing themselves of this establishment. Numerous analyses have been performed of Soils and Rocks for agricultural purposes, and of metalliferous Minerals for the mining interest, together with several for Government departments.

The accumulations of the various collections in the different departments of the Museum have now become so very considerable, that sufficient space cannot be found for their proper exhibition. Under these circumstances, much of the valuable instructions which they would otherwise afford is impaired, and their value, whether agricultural, manufacturing, mining or scientific, diminished.

From the increase of students, there is insufficient accommodation in the Laboratorty and the models of Mining Machinery can be no longer included, as is desirable, in one set of apartments.

In fact, the arrangement and classifications in the Museum are becoming necessarily confined, from the very progress and success of the establishment; and in order to prevent further disorganization, as the collections are constantly on the increase, it becomes requisite to preserve specimens, even donations, in their original packages, to the great detriment of the Museum, and loss to public utility and instruction.

(signed) H. T. de la Beche, Director.

DURING the past year the additions to the collections have been both numerous and valuable, the donations having been, as heretofore, from landed proprietors, mine-owners and agents, manufacturers and men of science. It has been found desirable to purchase many specimens illustrative of metallurgical processes, including the application of electro-metallic deposits, on the large scale, to busts, bas-reliefs and architectural decorations, and of the employment of mineral substances in porcelain, earthenware (ancient and modern), in the manufacture of glass and in the preparation of enamels.

The collection of Enamels has been greatly enriched by the deposit, in the manner of the Portland Vase in the British Museum, of several ancient and valuable examples of this art; among others, of an enamelled marriage casket of William de Valence, of the 13th century. Such deposits are the more interesting and important, as they illustrate the kind of vitreous bodies, coloured by metallic oxides, employed at an early date, and which may again be found useful to the artist. The enamel series forms a link between, and illustrates the connexion of the metallurgical processes and a valuable branch of the fine arts.

The Mineral specimens presented amount to about 400, and about 600 have been purchased, making a total addition of about 1,000. Of these it has been found necessary to place aside a large proportion in their original packages, or in situations where the public have little opportunity of inspecting them, from the want of sufficient room for their proper exhibition.

Though from these unavoidable circumstances, many series, illustrative of the application of Geology to the useful purposes of life, are much broken, every care has been taken to ticket the specimens favourably situated, as to convey as much general information respecting their economic importance and their mutual relations, as could, under such conditions, be accomplished.

During the past year the number of visitors to the Museum, which is gratuitously and daily open to the public, has very considerably increased, such visitors being chiefly composed of those personally interested in the subjects illustrated.

In the Laboratory students have been numerous, and generally of the same class noticed in the report for 1843-4. A great number of Ores and of Soils, and other substances connected with agriculture, have been analyzed for the public, and various analyses and chemical investigations have been undertaken for Government departments and commissions, including the Office of Woods, the Excise, the Colonial Office, the Post Office, the Harbour Commission and the Commission for the Health of Towns.

The making of models of Mining Machinery, or illustrative of mining, has steadily progressed in the workshop attached to the Museum, and many valuable additions have been made to the Mining Record Office, and the copying of plans and sections of mines has proceeded, especial attention having been directed to those mines which have for the present ceased to work, but which may be expected to be resumed at some future time, the object being to show the workings in them, so as to prevent new adventurers from being deceived by interested and false statements, and to guard against accidents that may cause loss of life and property by incautiously entering previously wrought ground.

The Vote of 250*l.* for Geological Sections of Railway Cuttings has been found very beneficial, enabling the Museum to follow out the investigations commenced by the British Association for the Advancement of Science; and much valuable information has in consequence been obtained, more particularly respecting the Coal Districts near Manchester, and that extending from near Derby into Yorkshire. Such investigations are of much importance as respects a knowledge of the mineral wealth of the country, and information is thus collected which would be otherwise lost.

Judging from the advance made by the Museum during the past year, and especially from the number and class of the visitors, and from the kind and number of the donations, it may be inferred, that even an increased interest to that always hitherto manifested in its progress, has been taken by the miner, the engineer, the architect, the manufacturer and the landed proprietor.

(signed) H. T. de la Beche, Director.

Note.—A memorandum as to the state and progress of the Museum for the year 1842-3, will be found appended to the printed Estimates for that year.
